THE COLLEGE

The advancement of knowledge and the development of educational facilities tend to increase rather than diminish the calls made upon the teacher. There is the need to select wisely from a vast field of knowledge; the need to inculcate moral values during the normal processes of school life; and the need to encourage healthy physical development in the growing boy. There has been a persistent demand for a more thorough study of physical growth, and a demand for men interested in and trained to coach the physical activities of schoolboys.

To meet this demand in the Public and Grammar Schools of the country, representatives of the Headmasters' Conference, the Ministry of Education (at that time the "Board"), The Carnegie United Kingdom Trust, the County Councils Association, and a number of other influential bodies, set up an Advisory Committee which led to the opening in 1933 of the Carnegie Physical Training College. This was made possible by the Carnegie Trustees who generously agreed to defray the capital cost and by the Leeds Education Committee who made the site available. The college is now known as the "Carnegie College of Physical Education" and the demand for its students over the whole field of education has steadily increased. Many old students (almost fifty per cent) have passed rapidly from schools to University and Training College lectureships, organising appointments and Headships; several are now on the Ministry's staff and a number have gone to responsible posts in the Dominions and Colonies.

That the College has met with this success may be attributed in the main to two factors: the decision of the authorities to limit admissions to qualified teachers and graduate students; and the enthusiasm and energy of the first Warden of the College, now a member of His Majesty's Inspectorate. Mention must also be made of the very special help afforded since the foundation of the College by the Departments of Anatomy and Physiology at the University of Leeds School of Medicine, the guidance afforded in the early days by the Advisory Council, and the assistance which has been forthcoming at all times from the City of Leeds Training College with which the Carnegie College is closely associated.

ADDRESS BY THE LORD BISHOP OF RIPON

THE RT. REV. G. A. CHASE, M.C., D.D.

4.15 p.m. in the College.

ORDER OF SERVICE OVER-LEAF

The congregation is asked to stand for prayers.

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

OPENING ACT OF WORSHIP

CONDUCTED BY CANON R. J. WOOD, VICAR OF HEADINGLEY.

HYMN

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal home ;

Under the shadow of thy throne
Thy Saints have dwelt secure ;
Sufficient is thine arm alone,
And our defence is sure.

Before the hills in order stood,
Or earth received her frame,
From everlasting thou art God,
To endless years the same.

A thousand ages in thy sight,
Are like an evening gone,
Short as the watch that ends the night
Before the rising sun.

Time, like an ever-rolling stream,
Bears all its sons away ;
They fly forgotten, as a dream
Dies at the opening day.

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Be thou our guard while troubles last,
And our eternal home.

LESSON

ST. MATTHEW, CH. V, V. 1-16, READ BY THE WARDEN OF THE COLLEGE

HYMN

Lead us, heavenly Father, lead us
O'er the world's tempestuous sea ;
Guard us, guide us, keep us, feed us,
For we have no help but thee ;
Yet possessing every blessing
If our God our Father be.

Saviour ! breathe forgiveness o'er us,
All our weakness thou dost know,
Thou didst tread this earth before us,
Thou didst feel its keenest woe ;
Lone and dreary, faint and weary,
Through the desert thou didst go.

Spirit of our God, descending,
Fill our hearts with heavenly joy,
Love with every passion blending,
Pleasure that can never cloy :
Thus provided, pardoned, guided,
Nothing can our peace destroy !

THE ADDRESS

BY THE LORD BISHOP OF RIPON

PRAYERS

HYMN

And did those feet in ancient time
Walk upon England's mountains green ?
And was the Holy Lamb of God
On England's pleasant pastures seen ?
And did the Countenance Divine
Shine forth upon our clouded hills ?
And was Jerusalem builded here
Among those dark Satanic mills ?

Bring me my bow of burning gold !
Bring me my arrows of desire !
Bring me my spear ! O clouds, unfold !
Bring me my chariot of fire !
I will not cease from mental fight,
Nor shall my sword sleep in my hand,
Till we have built Jerusalem
In England's green and pleasant land.

THE BLESSING

THE WAR MEMORIAL

The Carnegie Old Students' Association approached the College in 1948 to know the most acceptable way in which a War Memorial fund raised by the Association could be used to the benefit of the College. The library facilities for books connected with the specialised work of the College needed enlarging; in particular a library of current works which could be freely available to students was required. The Association immediately agreed to provide a suitable bookcase and to purchase the first volumes for the new library. The Governors have given considerable assistance and Room No. 6 is now a Memorial Room and Students' Library.

The Fund is still open. Visitors who wish to do so can contribute to the general fund by handing their subscriptions to the programme-sellers.

Other methods of subscription are as follows :

1. By cheque payable to "The Warden, Carnegie College," as a contribution to the General Fund for the Memorial Room and Library.
2. By contributing a book to the library. The Warden will be pleased to inform subscribers of books required.
3. By Book Subscription; donors are asked to indicate the amount they wish to subscribe and whether the College should submit the account for payment.

Subscription envelopes are available in the hall of the College hostels.
